Hi, I'm Caro, 24 years old and a master's student in my second semester.

Do you have any questions about student life and the Master of Civil and Environmental Engineering programme? I would be happy to share my experience with you and give you an insight into life as a DIT student. I am looking forward to hearing from you!

I'm from: Germany

I speak: German and english

Good to know:

At the beginning of your studies, you can quickly get to know new people through events, such as those offered by VD Baus, or group work - even in corona times.

That's what I particularly like about my Master's programme:

What I particularly like about my Master's programme is that it offers a wide range of lectures from which you can choose your own focus, depending on the direction you want to take in your personal interests. Moreover, the lectures are very practice-oriented, which is very important to me personally.

Why you should study at DIT:

DIT is a very friendly and close university. This means that the number of students in a course is not too high and there is time for discussions or questions to the professors and lecturers. There are also many leisure activities and offers to meet new people.
