ABSTRACT

We all agree that Artificial Intelligence is already playing and will be playing a much bigger role in healthcare. Let's review what has been done up to date. What worked and what did not and why. And let's look at the opportunities and why everyone in healthcare should be paying careful attention to AI. I started my company with the vision of using massive, multidimensional datasets to get a better understanding of disease causation, preventions and personalized treatment options. Big task to accomplish. And I am still excited as I was a few years ago on how AI will be able to transform healthcare!
